Healing, Swelling & Bruising (IMPORTANT)

All clients must understand that healing is a normal and expected part of any aesthetic treatment.

- Swelling, bruising, lumps, bumps and temporary asymmetry are completely normal for up to 4 weeks post-treatment.
- Some clients may take longer to heal depending on their body and lifestyle.
- Firmness under the skin can be present for up to 8 weeks and is normal during the settling process.
- Results during the healing stage are not an accurate representation of the final result.

If you feel that you would be unable to return to work, social environments, or normal daily life with potential bruising or swelling, then this treatment may not be suitable for you.

You must allow full healing before assessing your outcome.
